SALUTARY MEASURES.

The whole market applauds the excellent measures that Dr. Pacheco, the new president of the National Bank, has adopted in the internal management of that grea bank. He has begun by weeding out some time-honored abuses that may, perhaps, account for the declining fortunes and credit of the institution. He has put his heel on all speculation in the bank's shares by directors or clerks of the bank. This is a wise determination, and it is a pity that it was not enforced years ago, as the market might have been spared the anything but creditable spectacle of directors speculating in the shares of the very bank under their management. This salutary example, set forth by Dr. Pacheco's new measures, may produce moralising results in other quarters, and the day may come when in the light of this new departure the public may return to the old notion that it is criminal for any board to dabble in the stock of the bank under their charge. We need not add that the market applauds Dr. Pacheco's decision and the resolution of the directors of the National Bank to abide by it.

Another excellent measure of the new president of the bank is that of putting an end to the "use of credit" in the bank by the very directors. One would suppose that a certain sense of dignity would put directors on their guard and save them from applying for funds in a bank they managed; discretion in such matters is paramount, but when a spirit of speculation blinds the facility of getting credit leads to excess; and hence the many abuses that have induced Dr. Pacheco to put an end to a system, a custom, or a tradition that can no longer be contenanced. We have rushed through a period of such wild speculation and we are now watching such baneful effects of that dissipation, that the moralizing effect of this new measure cannot escape notice. Again, we may exclaim, what a pity such an excellent measure was not adopted years ago.

Another improvement that Dr. Pacheco has introduced is the reopening of discounts and the authority given to the several branches to draw on the Bank here Thus in the few days that Dr. Pacheco has resumed his old post at the head of the Bank he has availed of the opportunity of making a radical reform in the management of the Bank. He has expelled speculation from the precincts of the Bank and put an end to a traditional indulgence in the shape of borrowing facilities to the directors. The effect of such a reform on the market cannot be exaggerated,—and whilst applauding the talented President of the Bank for his firm stand in these questions, we cannot help thinking with many other people that he has freer elbow room in the banking parlor than in the Ministerial Cabinet Strange that as President of the Bank he should enjoy such a wide scope for the action of reform, whilst as Minister of the State he was handicapped into a passive condition. At all events, since the change in the Cabinet, that is to say since the turning over of the new leaf, Dr. Pacheco is the first to give pledges to the public that the Government has inaugurated an era of reform—and the market applauds him to the echo.

THE LA PLATENSE FLOTILLA COMPANY, LIMITED, OF GLASGOW.

We append a reply to the remarks of "a shareholder" in regard to the dispute about this company, and we have no hesitation in stating that everyone in the Plate will applaud "Viator" and condemn the intemperate and to a very great extent ignorant language of "a shareholder." "A shareholder's knowledge of the working of the company and the character of Mr. Murray-Tulloch is no doubt on a par with his views about the navigation of the Carcarana and Bermejo, and it is easy to see that he does not know what he is talking about. Mr. Tulloch is not only well known in B. Ayres but esteemed by all who have the pleasure of his acquaintance. No man has been more indefatigable than he in the discharge of his duties and the strengthening of the business of the concern he represented. We remember meeting Mr. Tulloch in the far south, in Patagones, whither he had gone to look after the interests which "a shareholder" wishes us to believe he neglected. People living two thousand leagues from the Plate must not imagine they know everything about B. Ayres, and all about the navigation of the Carcarana and Bermejo, problems that our local scientists have been endeavouring to solve for a number of years. The following is the reply above alluded to:

To the Editor of the South American Journal.

Sir,

While regretting to see the formidable "bill of indictment' that a shareholder formulates against this company in your last issue, and which, no doubt, will be answered in due time, I would beg to say, firstly, that Messrs. William Denny and Bros., of Dumbarton, and Messrs. P. Henderson and Co., of Glasgow, holding a large number of shares, besides being large creditors of the Platense Company, naturally would select, both for the managership in the River Plate, and for special missions, persons in whom they personally had implicit confidence, and this choice could probably not fall on any parties more entitled to their personal confidence than Mr. Tulloch, a clever young relative of Mr. Denny, and on some of the said firm of P. Henderson and Co., Scotch ship and insurance brokers, who also attend to some ocean lines of steamers, and to some Indian local steamers. In the like manner, it seems natural that Mr. Denny, knowing a good man in the Irrawaddy Company, of India and Burmah fame, should send him out to Buenos Aires as a confidential assistant to the manager referred to.

Secondly, that, in all probability, the correct thing would have been to have made Mr. Tulloch, on behalf of Messrs. Denny and Messrs. Henderson Bros., merely interventor in the management of the company in Buenos Ayres, and, as for the managership, to have taken a leaf out of the book of the other two great South American companies, the Pacific Steam Navigation Company and the "Sud Americana" Company, enterprises that have always been characterised, in their respective managements, by having at the helm, on the coast, men with local knowledge, who have identified themselves with South America, the Latin race, and the local requirements, men who from their age and position were or are looked up to, such as Messrs. Matheson, George Lyon, sen., Petrie, Jamieson, Rose, Sim, Shaw, Wells, Hall, Bryce-Douglas, Campbell, Sharpe the brothers Lyon, jun., and others. By this I mean that it would have been wise to have chosen in South America a manager for the Platense Company, and not in Glasgow, and to have kept Mr. Tulloch in Buenes Ayres purely as the representative of Messrs. Denny and Messrs. Henderson and Co., and trustee of vessels not yet paid for. The gentleman from India will no doubt be able not only to "smarten up" the steamers a bit, and "brush up" the Italian stewards somewhat, but to assist Mr. Tulloch in the management, and to endeavour to lessen the company's present unpopularity. It is really a case of the "blind leading the blind," which is also the case with Mr. Innes in going from Glasgow to help Mr. Tulloch and his assistant from Burmah.

Thirdly, that I know that Mr. Tulloch is not "running away from any inquiry," but has for a long time been in ill health, and is to undergo a course of medical treatment on the Continent. This gentleman was pointed out to me last winter in Buenos Aires, as he was tramping in the mud from Belgrano into his offices, with his trousers tucked up high, with the collar of his colored overcoat turned up over his "billy-cock," looking not only very ill, but the very picture of a young "gringo" who wanted to save a "bawbee" by using "shanks' pony," and not at all like the "all-powerful" general manager of a large company, with fifty-nine steamers and fifty-nine other craft. What a difference in his appearance and that of Mr. George Petrie, of Pacific fame! In fact, in a place like Buenos Aires, where so much attention is paid to outward appearance, I should much have preferred to have seen this Mr. Tulloch drive into his office in a smart turnout, or in a nice buggy at least, also that he mixed more with his follow-men, that he were "hand-in-glove" with the "powers that be," visited the ports of call more frequently, and kept the company's numerous employés up to the mark.

Fourthly, it is well known that Mr. Christophersen has withdrawn his name from the local board of the Platense Company. This is, as matters now stand, a great pity, as I have repeatedly heard officials of the company say that, if Mr. Christophersen could be prevailed on instead of being chairman of the board, to intervene in the daily management, even for only an hour a day, he would soon put things straight and make the company pay. Three local directors, who do not intervene in the administration of the company's affairs, and who get, if I remember right, £1,300 per annum, are both a costly and a useless luxury that should be abolished, and it is more than likely that for this sum a good manager could be had in Buenos Ayres, a man who would put the company in its proper position. On the Pacific coast the Pacific Steam Navigation Company, of Liverpool, have no local board, their general manager, Mr. Sharpe, being superintendent-engineer, traffic-superintendent, and general administrator. As for fifty years the Pacific Steam Navigation Company has never felt the need of a local board, why should the Platense Company have this luxury, especially if it can so ill afford any unnecessary officials?

Fifthly, I beg to say in conclusion that the workshops of the Platense Company at the Boca ought, in my opinion, to be sold to a separate company, and would, no doubt, be a good investment, especially if the repairs of the Platense Company were secured under the sale-contract.—I am, Sir, etc.,

LONDON LETTER.

ROMANCES OF THE HOUR.

THE NIAGARA MURDER.

MR. BAIRD AND THE PUGILISTS.

MAJOR ISAACS AND MISS FANNY.

(From our Own Correspondent)

March 13.

From time to time gruesome tales have come from America of young Englishmen mysteriously disappearing. They are supposed to have been lured into Canadian ranches and robbed and murdered. These tales have not found much credence in England; but the murder of Mr. Benwell, at Niagara Falls, is too well authenticated and attended by circumstances too grim to be overlooked. It appears that the alleged murderer is himself a young Englishman of good family, but of singularly erratic antecedents. His name is Reginald Birchall. He is a son of the late well-known Vicar of Church Kirk, Accrington, the Rev. Joseph Birchall, half brother of the Rev. Oswald Birchall, Vicar of Buscot Gloucestershire. Reginald Birchall was educated at Rossall School and at the Reading Grammar School. He was known to his schoolfellows as eccentric, and at Lincoln College, Oxford, where he only remained two years without taking a degree, he was the terror of the proctors. His wild ways were the current talk of the whole University. His principal amusements were riding and driving. He dressed 'loud' and was fond of practical jokes. He was clever and had a powerful memory and displayed great versatility in conversation. He, however, never passed even one examination. In 1888 he married at Croydon, Florence, youngest daughter of Mr. David Stephenson, of Norwood. His wife is now under arrest in Canada as a participator in the crime for which he is charged, and about to undergo trial. She is in a delicate state of health and hysterical, and a prisoner in a boarding-house in charge of the nurses. He is very cool and collected in his prison, but refuses to discuss his case. His counsel says he has won worse cases. One thing has occurred in Birchall's favour. He was accused of causing the death of a gentleman named Pickthall, who suddenly disappeared from Ontario. The gentleman has, however, turned up in Arizona, from which place he has sent a telegram to his wife. Mr. Pickthall is thought to have fled on account of business troubles. The trial of Birchall takes place immediately, and the probable result is that he will be proved to be insane. His half-brother, the Rev. Oswald Birchall, is a great Christian Socialist and friend and supporter of William Morris the poet. There is, perhaps, some thing in the family. Mr. Reginald Birchall is undoubtedly an "English gentleman" and so is Mr. George Baird alias "Abington", whose name is writ large in ironstone in Lanarkshire, but the family evidently want another generation of puddling to get the slag out of them. 'George' is a bad lot. Every week he appears in court for something or another. His last is inviting a few gentlemen to luncheon, and after a visit to the "Nell Gwynne" and "Adelphi" Clubs—pretty well on—they adjourned to Mr Baird's residence in John Street, Mayfair. The party consisted of Mr George Baird, Mr Charley Mitchell, Mr Goode (known in the ring as 'Chesterfield'), Goode, a middle-weight champion, Mr. Cockburn, a weak amateur boxer, and probably others of the same kidney. After supper, the host, Mr Baird, felt a little drowsy and went to bed. Mr. Cockburn bethought him of some communication he had to make to Baird, and wanted to go to his room to speak with him. Mitchell objected, and, after a short altercation, Cockburn was settled with a blow in the mouth. Goode, who was rather drunk, went to assist Cockburn; Mitchell closed with him, and the two rolled down stairs. Mitchell was the heavier by three stone, and he got Goode's head against the wall and began to gouge out his eyes. "Don't pull out my eyes, Charley," said Goode; and Mitchell, yielding to this pathetic appeal from an old chum, let him go. Baird, hearing the row, put his head out of his room, and seeing Goode, he said to Mitchell, "There is Charley; go and finish him"; upon which Mitchell followed Goode and knocked him "silly" by a blow on the head with a poker. Cockburn had in the meantime gone for the police.

Of such is Mayfair in 1890. You will read a fuller account of the "fracas," as they call it, in the papers. There were some awful rushes of "the fancy" to get into Marlborough Police Court, where the case was heard. Even Slavin and Jew Smith and other gentlemen interested in the proceedings were unable to gain admission. For some reason or another, the case was adjourned by the magistrate for a fortnight—perhaps to give Mr. Baird time to consider whether at this season London or the Riviera would most conduce to his health. Charley Mitchell is out on bail for £500. His bail is a very respectable man, his father-in-law, "Pony" Moore.

Elizabeth Vincent—whose real name is Fanny Eliz'th Cornish—has been tried before Lord Chief Justice Coleridge for 1stly misdemeanour in possessing and using fire-arms under certain conditions; 2ndly, for an attempt to do grievous bodily injury to Major or Mr. Lewis Henry Isaacs, M. P., architect and surveyor, No. 3 Pembridge Square, and 3rd, for an attempt to murder. The first charge was withdrawn, and on the other counts the jury found a verdict of "not guilty" and the young woman was discharged. The case and the verdict give rise to much discussion at dinner tables. You will remember that the girl Vincent was a nursery governess in Mr. Isaac's house during his wife's time and was retained in his service when he became a widower. When he first saw her she was only fifteen, and seems to have been an engaging brat, for in 1881, before Mrs. Isaac's death, a kind lady, a friend of the family, sent her to Germany to learn the language, which she seems to have earned and much more, and is, as her benevolent patroness intended, fully equipped, morally and mentally, for the battle of life. She returned in 1884, and Mr. Isaacs, who had then been two years a widower, met her "on the boat" at Dover. She now owns to 27; so that in view of the known consequeaces of that meeting, the innocence of extreme youth cannot be urged as a palliation of her indiscretion. She was liberally treated by Mr. Isaacs, who gave her from time to time large sums in cash besides settling £2000 upon her and £2000 upon her child, Amy Daisy, born in Shepherd's Bush, where Miss Cornish resided. The medical man who attended her a Dr. Coker, was her trustee for the deed of settlement. Last year, Miss Cornish, alias Vincent, alias Mrs. Isaacs, removed from Shepherd's Bush to Richmond. There she became acquainted with a young man, whose name does not appear, but who is evidently the "Deus ex machina" of this case. In October last, Mr. Isaacs, who up to that date had paid her various sums amounting to £900 in cash, received a letter from her, asking to see him. He went. After he had entered the diningroom, she locked the door and demanded his signature to a paper, which not only bound him to give her £20,000, but contained scandalous details in relation to his first intimacy with her, that he alleges to be false. On his refusing to sign, she presented a pistol at his head, and during a struggle on his part to take the pistol from her, it accidentally went off. The ball entered Mr. Isaac's wrist and lodged in his shoulder, where it still remains. The noise of the scuffle seems to have attracted the attention of the "young man," who was in the house, and commenced violently kicking at the dining room door for admission. On being admitted, he innocently asked "what it all meant?" Poor Isaacs asked for brandy, as he was getting faint. This, he says, Miss Vincent gave him, as she had just before given him a hysterical kiss on finding that the nasty pistol had gone off and her former lover was wounded. The young man eventually accompanied Mr. Isaacs to the railway station. It seems that what staggered Mr. Isaacs' generosity in the negotiations prior to the accidental discharge of the pistol was the young woman demanding that the £20,000 should not be placed in the hands of trustees, but paid to her in cash by instalments. In other words she wished to be in a position to reward the attentions of any one she might fancy. She is accused of threatening Mr. Isaacs that she would get every penny he had out of him or she would murder him, herself and his child. The interesting young woman when she appeared in Court is depicted as sitting in the dock pale and trembling but becomingly dressed in a neat brown dress with braids of a lighter tint of the same colour. Her hair is flaxen, her eyes blue, and she looked several years younger than her age, owing to her fresh complexion and "petite" figure. Her appearance is evidently attractive, and we are told that to begin with, while the charge was being read, the clerk of the Court was "deeply moved". The Lord Chief Justice, we all know, is of a highly aesthetical nature, and peradventure the jury were by accident emotional beyond the average. It appears to be a Mrs. Maybrick business over again less Mr. Justice Stephen and a Liverpool jury. There are lots of portraits knocking about already of "Miss Elizabeth Vincent" and if there be anything in physiognomy, although one should never judge from photos or newspaper engravings, a more hard, cunning, mercenary little face was never limned than the one I am looking at in an evening paper, and supposed to represent Miss Cornish. I hope it does not. We are all willing to believe that the pistol went off accidentally, but every one asks under what circumstances was the pistol in her hands? All I can say is, that if my cook, who is really very comely, can with impunity come in any morning with a cheque in one hand and a chopper in the other and demand my signature for thirty shillings—she knows my means—there are none of us safe.

OUR MAILS.

(Per It. Steamer Nord-America.)

Genoa, April 3.

Spagliardi, the banker in Milan, manager of the firm of Silo and Spagliardi, has committed suicide. He was supposed to be immensely wealthy. It appears that he had speculated and lost all his money. He was 74 years of age. Another banker in Milan, Mr Marazza, has also failed; and in Naples the firm of Silento has gone to the wall, owing the Marquis de Casafuerte and the Duke de Guardia-Lombardia 1½ million lires. A well-known Marquis in Naples has disappeared, leaving debts behind him to the amount of one million lires.

A company is being organized to open permanent Italian exhibitions in Brazil and the River Plate.

There is a great crisis in Rome, and there appears to be a very considerable deficiency in the Municipal budget. Land speculators are all ruined, and thousands of unemployed parade the streets. Government intends starting public works, with a view to give employment and ease the situation, which is daily becoming more dangerous.

The new opposition party, headed by Nicotera, is rapidly assuming shape. A grand banquet will be given on the 15th inst. to usher it into political life. Altogether the Italian Government is at present in a very unpleasant situation, what with the claims of the opposition, the collateral crisis in the market and the discontent of the working classes. The policy of the new party will be to direct this discontent against the Government and thus endeavour to overthrow Crispi. It is a good sign, however, to see Italian stocks holding their own.

People here are rapidly recovering from the fright occioned by the wild soaring of the premium, and it is felt that you are turning the corner. The feeling has increased so much that something like the old confidence has returned, and investors are buying back what they sold in a moment of fright. The latest telegrams received allude to the possible resignation of the Cabinet, which has caused an easier feeling here. In the meantime interest in the Plate has revived; emigration to your shores will probably flow stronger than ever. Messrs. Lavarello, anticipating the change, are going to run their steamers from Venice direct to the River Plate.

Some grave rumours are afloat of frauds in the navy, and the arrest of a well-known gentleman in Venice has created quite a sensation.

A Milan paper states, upon what it asserts to be good authority, that the Pope will leave Rome this year and take up his abode in Trentino, which Austria will present to the Holy See.

An international Beauty Exhibition takes place in Rome next May, and it is reported that an Argentine lady, well known for the beauty of her appearance, will take part in it.

The forger of the Spanish bonds, who was traced to Bologna by the police, committed suicide when caught. He leaves his property and money to his nephews.

FACTS AND STRANGE RUMOURS FROM BERLIN.

London, March 22

There is a dispatch in some of the papers this morning which is more important than even those dealing with the fall of the grim and great Chancellor. The young Emperor is said to have had an interview with Jules Simon, the chief French representative at the Labor Conference, and to have discussed quite freely with him the question of Alsace and Lorraine. There is nothing which has kept open so much the terrible sore between France and Germany; and it is probably to these two provinces that both countries owe, more than to anything else the ruinous expenditure on armaments which has kept down both their peoples for the last nineteen years. The Emperor is said to have spoken favourably of some settlement of the question which would be satisfactory to France's wounded sense of honor—such as the neutralisation of the provinces, or their junction to Switzerland. If the Emperor should have the courage and the power to make a change like this in the situation, it would be a justification of his dismissal of Prince Bismarck such as we did not hope to see. But the news is too good to be true. It is certainly the most important and momentous item in to-day's budget of intelligence.

There is no doubt about the ceremoniousness with which Prince Bismarck is bowed out of power. The Emperor, having resolved to rule instead of being ruled, is taking every means of gilding the pill of dismissal. Prince Bismarck is to be made a duke and a field marshall; but these simulacra will be but poor consolation to a statesman who valued always the realities instead of the appearances and surfaces of life. Already he has begun the work of removal, several large boxes having been sent from his country residence to take his dispatches and papers away from the official residence he has occupied for so many years in the chief street of Berlin. It is a curious coincidence that the date of his dismissal should be the anniversary of the day when he saw the first German Parliament assemble—that Parliament which owed its existence to his genius and strength of will.

THE EMPEROR SHOWS HIS GRATITUDE WITH TITLES AND TOUCHING WORDS.

The Rescript in which the Emperor William accepts Prince Bismarck's resignation is published. The Emperor writes:

"My dear Prince.—With deep emotion I have seen from your entreaty of the 18th inst. that you are determined to retire from the offices which you have occupied for so many years with such incomparable success. I had hoped not to be forced to acquaint myself with the thought of parting with you, but am obliged to familiarise myself with this thought. I do it certainly with an afflicted heart, but with the firm hope that the compliance with your request will contribute towards and powers, which our Fatherland cannot replace, as long as possible. The motives which you advance for your determination convince me that any further attempts at inducing you to withdraw your request have no chance of success, and I therefore respond to your wish and herewith accept your resignation from your offices as Chancellor, President of my Ministry of State, and Minister of Foreign Affairs, in the full confidence that your advice, your energy, your fidelity, and devotion will in the future not be wanting to me and the Fatherland. I have regarded it as a grace of Providence in my life that on my accession to the throne I had you by my side. What you have done and accomplished for Prussia and Germany, what you have been to my house, to my predecessors and to me will not only remain in mine and in the German people's grateful memory for ever, but also in the memory of foreign countries. Your wise, energetic and pacific policy, which I am resolved in the future to take as the inspiration of my action, will be remembered with grateful recognition. I have not the power to reward your merits to their full worth, and must satisfy myself with assuring you of my and the Fatherland's undying gratitude. As a sign of this gratitude I confer upon you the dignity of Duke of Lauenburg, and shall also send you my life-sized portrait.

AS MY FIRST COUNSELLOR

GOD BLESS YOU,

my dear Prince, and grant you still many years of an untroubled old age, brightened by the consciousness of duty truly fulfilled. With these sentiments, I remain your also in future truly obliged and grateful, Emperor and King WILLIAM.—Berlin, 20 March, 1890. To Prince Bismarck."

The second letter is worded as follows:—"I cannot see you give up the position in which you have for so many years striven for my House, and for the grandeur and welfare of the Fatherland, without remembering in heartfelt gratitude the unforgettable merits of which you have given proof on behalf of my army with far-seeing circumspection and energy. You assisted my grandfather, who is at rest with God, when the necessity arose in hard times to carry out the reorganisation of our military powers; you have helped to mark out the path along which the army could be led, with God's help, from victory to victory; and you have also in great wars, and from that time up to the present day you have always been ready with never-resting care and devotion to stand up for the preservation of the military strength which we inherited from our fathers, and thus to create a guarantee for the maintainance of the benefits of peace. I know I am but the mouthpiece of my army in expressing the desire to see the man who performed such great deeds preserved to it in the highest position. I therefore appoint you Major-General of Cavalry, with the rank of General Field Marshal, and hope to God that you may be preserved to me in this honorary position for still many years to come.—Berlin, 20 March, 1890. Wilhelm, R. To the General of Cavalry Prince Bismark à la suite of the Cuirassier Regiment von Seydlitz No. 7, and of the 2nd Garde Landwehr Regiment."

Already some years ago the late Emperor William, on the occasion of Prince Bismarck's seventieth birthday, intended to make him Duke of Lauenburg. The Prince at that time refused the honor, and the Daily News man thinks it is probable that he will do the same now. As a motive for his refusal he advanced the fact that his fortune did not allow him to keep up the style of a duke. He will maintain this opinion, all the more as he DID NOT LAY MUCH STRESS UPON TITLES.

By his promotion to the post of Major-General, Prince Bismarck is made the equal in rank of Count Moltke, the man who, next to him, has contributed the most towards the foundation of the new Empire. We will not be wrong in supposing that the Emperor in the last military conference previously informed his generals of his intention to invest the ex-Chancellor with the highest military honors.

Paris, 21 March.—The Dix Neuvieme Siecle states that Count Munster has been summoned to Berlin to succeed Count Herbert Bismark.

The announcement that the Emperor William has raised Prince Bismarck to the rank of "Duke of Lauenberg" causes some little confusion in British minds. As a matter of fact, the title of "Furst" conferred upon Count von Bismarck in March 1871 more nearly approaches the English distinction of Marquis than of Prince, and in German order of precedence stands between Graf (or Count) and Herzog (or Duke.)

The German Socialist Bucholtz had the courage to speak thus to the German Emperor:—"We do not doubt your present wish to help us, Sire; but we fear your zeal may burn out like a straw fire. Our grievances are not of a day's growth, and they cannot be remedied in a hurry. You will have to examine the Socialist question very long and very deeply before you can feel as we do; and if you ever come to see things with your eyes, you will recognise the necessity for abolishing many things which now seem to you most precious."

Sir Edward and Lady Malet did a sensible thing in inviting the officers of Queen Victoria's German Dragoon Regiment to a banquet at the British Embassy at Berlin. Two officers were—the Berlin Correspondent of the Glasgow Herald says—summoned to the Palace to inform his Majesty of everything that had taken place—what were the toasts, how the guests were seated, how Lady Ermyntrude was dressed, and so forth. The Emperor slapped his thigh quite in the style of Frederick the Great when he heard that Lady Ermyntrude had worn the Prussian colours, black and white. "Old England for ever," he kept on repeating.

The Prince of Wales, accompanied by Prince George, arrived here at ten o'clock this morning, and was received at the railway-station by the Emperor, the Princes of the reigning German families now in Berlin, and the Empress Frederick with her daughters. A Guard of Honour, furnished by the second regiment of the Guard, was drawn up on a platform, the band playing "God save the Queen" on the arrival of the Royal train. The reception of the Royal Highnesses and the procession to the Castle were strictly in conformity with the pre-determined arrangements. The Prince of Wales drove in a carriage with the Emperor, escorted by a squadron of the Cuirassiers of the Guard, headed by their trumpeters, and a similar escort attended the carriage occupied by Prince George. The "cortege" passed through the Brandenburg Gate, and then along Unter den Linden to the Schloss, where there was a great military display, and the fullest honours were rendered to the illustrious guests.

THE COST OF CONVERSION.

We make the following extract from a London exchange received by the last mail:—

"If anyone is curious to know what the carrying out of Mr. Goschen's vast scheme of conversion cost the nation he may gather the details from the book of Mr. Hamilton. At first sight the amount appears to be about three millions sterling, but this, as will be seen, requires an important qualification. The bonus of five shillings per cent in return for the stockholder's waiving his right to one year's notice represents in itself very nearly a million. Then there is the commission of eighteenpence per cent allowed to bankers, stockbrokers and solicitors. It will be remembered that this item was rather strongly criticised by those who thought that if it was the duty of these classes to advise their clients to convert, they ought to do so with out the stimulus of a bribe. That it was politic to enlist the sympathies of the solicitors and agents on the side of conversion, however, may be presumed from the fact that the amount paid to them in respect to Consols and Reduced Threes reached the large sum of rather more than 234,000*l.*, representing stocks converted to the amount of upwards of three hundred millions. The total sum paid to the Bank of England for its trouble, outlay and responsibility in the matter was 98,248*l.*, and to the Bank of Ireland 3,293*l.*; but the heaviest item in the bill is 1,715,815*l.*, representing the outlay on account of the additional quarter's dividend which became payable in respect of New Threes converted and Reduced threes exchanged. This, however, was part of the bargain with the fundholder, for which the nation must be assumed to have received an equivalent advantage. Deducting this, the portion of what Mr. Hamilton calls "the extraordinary expenses that had to be met," which represents the cost of the different operations, would be a little under thirteen hundred thousand pounds.

Railway Items.

THE SALE OF THE WESTERN RAILWAY.

WITHDRAWAL OF ONE BID.

SOLD FOR FORTY ONE MILLIONS.

The fate of the Western Railway of Buenos Aires was sealed yesterday, by the withdrawal of Messrs. Meeks's tender, thus leaving but one Richmond in the field with a bid of forty-one millions. The Provincial Government telegraphed from La Plata to Mr. Meeks, giving him a term up to four p.m. yesterday to seal his tender. Mr. F. Meek's telegraphed at noon that he had resolved to withdraw his bid, satisfied that his competition had so far improved the original tenders that the Province of Buenos Aires gained no less than six million gold dollars. But for the Fabian policy of the Governor and the providential appearance of Mr. Meeks in the subsequent negotiations, the Western line would have gone, bag and baggage, for thirty-five millions, say seven millions sterling. We think that the Government and province owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Meeks, in this respect, for a saving of six millions, especially in these crucial times, is no inconsiderable amount. Thus, the only tender that is now before the La Plata Government is that of Mr. H. Anderson for the round amount of forty-one millions gold. Once the deeds of sale are signed, the purchasers will organise a great company in London, probably with a capital of no less than ten millions sterling, say fifty million gold dollars, to form the railway, which, under good management, ought to be the best paying line in the world. Its future is that of the Province of Buenos Aires, and, running through a region of immense potentialities and possibilities, as the butter and wool of this province, its prospects of development are simply colossal.

The Local Paraguay Land Company, which is half owner of the Osborne concession for the construction of the Gran Chaco Railway, have given orders that the works of the line be immediately commenced under the supervision of engineers Haag and Stutterheim. The plans and surveys have already been drawn up, and the permanent way works will be in active operation next month. The engineers will begin the works in front of Concepcion on the Paraguayan river. In connection with this concession we may call attention to the fact that the Pan-American Congress have endorsed Mr. Harper's idea of a great Transcontinental railway and this Osborne railway through the Gran Chaco will be one of the trunk lines probably of that huge undertaking.

Inspector Barbeino yesterday sent in his report on the B. Ayres and Rosario Railway. From San Martin to Rosario, he states, there are no barriers. On the whole his report is favorable.

The Inspector-General, endorsing Mr. Koenig's opinion, has advised Government to allow the Santa Fe and Cordoba Great Southern Railway to open to traffic the first section of their line from Villa Constitucion to San Urbano (kil. 117.) The company have already equipped 13 locomotives and 244 waggons for that section. Inspector Koenig's report on the section states that the construction is solid and that the plans have been well carried out. This concession was granted in October 1887 and the plans approved in November 1887.

The palms of the bridges on the Bahia Blanca North-Western are now completed and await the Sanction of the Government.

The Inspector-General has reported favorably on Mr. Schatrmann's plans of the Cordillera section of the Transandine Railway.

The new locomotive of the Northern Railway, No. 18, has been inspected and found fit for service.

Beyond the question the finest engineering offices in this city are those of Messrs. Hume Bros., in calle Peru between Moreno and Belgrano, where formerly the Supreme Court of Justice held sway. Nor has the neighborhood lost by the change practical science usurping the place of mere theoretical law. Legal lore giving way to engineering skill—the theodolite instead of the ponderous "espediente"—landsurveyors not barristers—railway contractors not "escribanos"—happy clerks not careworn litigents. Whilst the gentlemanly representation of Messrs. J. Meiggs and Co. the great London contractors occupies with unassuming dignity the spacious hall lately tenanted by the Argentine "Wool Sack".

According to a rumour afloat in the Bolsa to-day, the recent loan operation effected by the Catalinas Company, and of which the gold has been partly sold already, corresponds to the mortgaging of the Boca lands purchased by Mallmann and Co., so that the sum is £200,000, and not £300,000 as at first thought.

Business at the second hour was even brisker than in the morning, and there was an all round improvement in prices, which steadied the market and gave a sounder aspect to the reaction. Gold opened for cash at 240, fluctuated between 238 and 242, and left off at the latter rate, which was also the closing rate for Saturday. In stocks, National Bank Shares shot up to 152, Catalinas to 42 and Constructors to 38, closing firm at these rates. Cedulas were also in good demand and maintained firm rates, though in the National series little was done.

The National Bank continued to draw to-day at—

In spite of the paralyzation in the corralon trade, we hear that our friend Mr. Emilio Schroeder has sold three cargoes of Swedish pine just arrived in port, at reserved rates. This operation points to a renewal of business in lumber circles.

The drawing for the amortization of the loan of October, 1887, for nineteen millions, which bonds were paid to the Provincial Bank to liquidate the debt of the National Government to the bank, took place to-day in the presence of the president and directors of the Junto de Credito Nacional. The total amount of the service of this debt is but 111,000 dollars gold. The bonds, we believe, are held in "caucion" in Germany. The amortization of the bonds given to the Guerreros of Independencia also took place, but the amount of the service of the debt is trifling.

Mr. Scharf, senior, was welcomed on 'Change on his return from camp.

Everyone on 'Change spoke to-day of the resignation note sent in by the Provincial Director of Railways to the Provincial Government. It was certainly about high time to sell the Western railway, judging of how things stood by this letter, the salient features of which we give in another column.

The Custom House receipts to-day were:—

Imports	$110,240.10
Exports	203.10
Stamps	10,138.92
	$120,582.12

The Nord America's mails were delivered last night. Her dates are up to 3rd inst.

Messrs Peake Ferrari y Cia. have presented a project to the E. P. for the enlargement of the sea-walls around the city. The superfice of these works are bounded on the east by the various concessions of the Madero Port Works, Portalis and Villavane being divided by a canal 150 metres in width. The concession will be devided into four sections to be finished in 30 years. The concessionaires will give Government a certain amount of the land reclaimed and so much per cent of profits made.

Mr. Florencio Varela Ortiz has obtained permission from Government to open three offices for the sale of stamped paper and stamps. The offices must be near the Custom House, National Bank and Courts of Justice.

According to Montevidean advices, the fall in the premium here means receipt of large consignments from the other side, as several firms have received orders to remit so as to deliver the gold, which has been sold at high rates. The gold belonged to this market, and was employed temporarily in the Mount.

Dr. Reus, so well known on both sides of the Plate, is seriously ill and under medical supervision.

The Montevidean Government, it seems, intend to negotiate a loan of eight millions through Baring Bros., and the project will be laid before the Chambers this week. Part of the amount will be employed in making good the deficit, and the remainder handed to the National Bank to reimburse the two millions advanced to the Government.

According to late cables from London, Argentine Cedulas continue to improve, Provincial A advancing 5 o/o to 43 o/o and J 3 o/o to 31 o/o.

Telegrams from Rio announce exchange weaker, quoted at 21d. the mil reis paper. The £ stg. has risen 280 reis to 11,280.

The manager of the Provincial Bank of Mendoza, Mr. Ruiz, has written to our leading colleague La Argentina, contradicting the rumour that the Provincial Government had no funds to meet the quarterly interest and amortization on its foreign loan. Mr. Ruiz says that the bank, which has been encharged by the Government to meet the service of the loan, has ample funds at its command.

The first Cabinet meeting under the new order was held yesterday, the President and all the Ministers being present. No resolutions were adopted, the state of the market, position of the Government and the situation generally forming the subject of study and conversation. With regard to the loan, probabilities point strongly to negotiations being reopened, and it all depends upon the conditions if they will be accepted or rejected.

Messrs. Lix-Klott, Langenheim and Soliz, sent out by the Comisario General de Inmigracion to inspect the Dutch s.s. Edam, of the Netherland-American Steamship Navigation Company, in order to see if she answered to the conditions required for immigrants' transport, have declared that this steamer left nothing to be desired. Both food and treatment were excellent, and as to her accommodation and sanitary and security precautions, she was superior to any vessel carrying immigrants which up to now has entered this port.

The following transactions in real-estate are reported:—

The s.s. Ovendean Grange arrived at Montevideo this morning from London with 1500 tons cargo for Montevideo, 900 tons for Buenos Aires and 700 tons for Rosario.

IMPORTANT SALE
By Guillermo Gowland,

The whole of the Stock of the Buenos Ayres Hansom Cab Association, on Monday, 28th inst., on the premises of the association

Calle Rioja No. 936 at 1 p.m.

In consequence of the retirement of two of the members of the Association, and in accordance with Articles 6 and 7 of the "contrato social", which provide that in such case the concern shall be liquidated by public auction,

The above important sale will take place on the 28th inst., Monday, at 1 o'clock p.m., at the stables of the Association, calle Rioja No. 936, in front of the Plaza Eukara.

The Hansom Cabs, as is well known, are in full work and giving most satisfactory results, the supply of these vehicles being quite inadequate to meet the demands of the public, who have taken to them most favourably. As regards the horses of the Association, it is enough to say that they are acknowledged to be superior in breeding appearance and speed to any at present working in public carriages in this city, being all fast trotters of from four to six years old, perfectly trained and thoroughly sound.

The stock of the Association to be disposed of represents 24 Hansom Cabs, lately brought out from London, with harness from two of the most celebrated makers, and all fittings, together with seventy horses, as above mentioned, as also the lease of stable and offices.

The whole will be sold to the highest bidder, either in one single lot or separately, according to the interest displayed.

For full details apply at the Stables, Calle Rioja 936, or to the Manager, Philip Dorman, 195 Reconquista, Room No 28.
